COME ONE, COME ALL

The sight of so many governments rubbing their hands and smilingly inviting Uncle Sam to remember them when sending out invitations to consider trade treaties is a belated triumph for statesmanship in a troubled world.

The thing which has put the governments on guard is the fact the tail of the British lion has been seen sticking out from behind the davenport of Uncle Sam's parlor. An effective commercial agreement between the United States and Great Britain would be the trade treaty to end trade treaties—or perhaps to start them.

It would put a foundation under the world's most important natural alliance—that of the two English speaking countries. It would be the deciding factor in the balance of power which the two nations are capable of exercising when they act together.

Secretary of State Hull has kept alive, in a quiet way, the theory that international peace is a problem in commercial adjustments and can be solved, therefore, by statesmanship. The fascist bloc—the "have not" nations—have taken the position that war is the only solution. But until they know why the British lion has been seen in Uncle Sam's parlor, they must assume that they, also, have a chance to be invited to the party. Thus, statesmanship again has made itself the superior of militarism.

At the end of a year when war many times seemed inevitable, due largely to failure of diplomacy, the transition of influence from war makers to treaty makers is a development of such vast importance that it is in danger of being missed because it is incomprehensible.

OUT OF PRACTICE

It is temptingly easy to believe congress can make or break the national spirit within the next few weeks. There is danger in such a belief, because it is plain that even if congressmen did none of the things they could so easily do to restore confidence the nation would not be affected directly.

But, consider what might happen if—

Congress were to prove by decisive, explicable action that it intended to terminate the era of executive domination; that it had interpreted correctly the country's distaste for continuing the new deal's improvised revolution; that it was ready to recognize that the United States could be socialistic or capitalist, but couldn't be both at the same time.

That would mean the outright repeal of some laws and the drastic modification of others. It would mean the general feeling of uncertainty about the intentions of a few men inside and close to the White House could be discounted, because a few men no longer would be in a position to dictate to hundreds of congressmen. There would be no reason to distrust the congressmen, because they would represent their constituents, who clearly are not ready to go off half-cocked about anything.

What a pity that congressmen are so sadly out of practice in the fundamentals of representative democracy.

"JUST CALL ME DOC"

The mystery of Dr. Hjalmar Horace Greely Schacht is cleared up by announcement his resignation has been accepted at last by Adolf Hitler. Dr. Schacht positively is not minister of economics for the reich any longer.

This gets attention outside Germany because Dr. Schacht is a shrewd and resourceful operator in the complexities of cockeyed finance. It has been his job to accommodate finance to the antics of Germany's planned economy. He pulled the fat out of the fire.

But, apparently, he couldn't please them. So Hermann W. Goering, militarist, No. 2 Nazi, big game hunter and fancy dresser is going to take over his job till Jan. 15, when Walther Funk, undersecretary of the propaganda ministry, will carry on.

Germany's finances now are definitely in the hands of the make-believe school of pseudo-economists—one more triumph for planned economy and the totalitarian state.

THE STARS SAY

For Friday, December 3

Lively conditions, with much enterprise in launching new undertakings, is read from today's planetary configurations. But this progressive situation is menaced by disturbed and agitated conditions, with upheavals, disrupted plans and possibly by treachery, intrigue and deception, if not fraud. The consequent confusion and perplexity may best be met by vigilance and a composed and sagacious review of the situation in jeopardy.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may feel their energies and spirit of enterprise and initiative stimulated to high purpose during the year, but the validity of this will be put to the test by disturbed and agitated situations, with unsettlement and new factors to consider, probably in strange places or with strangers. A child born on this day may be lively, energetic and talented, but unsettled and fond of the strange and the new. It may also be shrewd and crafty, taking pleasure in intrigues and secret organizations.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 2—The last of the Broadway play boys, Tommy Manville, is beginning to show the inevitable wear and tear of time. "Boy" is a misnomer for Manville is gray haired. Also he is stooped and there is the tired look of the spent boulevardier in his eyes.

His inherited fortune of several millions has been lavished—or at least the heavy income therefrom—on the showy type of high blondes. The wide-eyed gimme girls who decorate the floor shows of the cabarets. To many such the asbestos heir has been a generous Santa Claus.

He often has a half dozen of them as house guests even when to all outward appearances he seemed happily wed. He just likes to have them around, hear their fluffy gossip column chatter and in return feed them truffles and caviar with washes of vintage wine.

Apparently he can go just so long without making the headlines and then by some particularly fancy dido will land kerplunk on Page 1 of the tabloids. He is in his early 40's, but looks much older—frivolling around the white lights sometimes does that.

Among standard vaudeville acts, the never-changing routine of the tramp bicyclist Joe Jackson has always interested me. His routine is a model of timing. Not many, outside his agent and fellow performers, know Jackson without make-up. When not wandering the world he lives in almost hermit fashion at Greenwood Lakes, N. Y. In the beginning he was the champion bicyclist of Europe, having migrated from Australia. His relaxation is the camera, mostly snapshots of outdoor scenes. Jackson has strange hunches. Such, for instance, as taking out his wallet in Berlin to pay for passage on the ill-fated Hindenburg and suddenly canceling his ticket and, for no reason he could understand, walking away.

In the Cincinnati salad days I lodged at The Gerdes, a theatrical hotel patronized largely by vaudeville troupers. A clannish lot, they expanded among themselves over beer and sandwiches after the night show. Their talk centered mostly on New York and that valhalla of variety—The Palace. A night clerk named Gus, a Mr. Hogenheimer come to life, was on easy familiarity with all and I noted that when he went to the opening Sunday matinee performers played to him. He was a notable figure in my eyes because he called Mabel Hite, Ed Wynn, Lewis and Dody, Brice and King, the Arnaut Brothers, Eva Tangway and many others by their first names. That struck me as top in worldliness.

They are learning gradually how to pronounce the Alfred Lunt-Lynn Fontanne play "Amphitryon 38." The correct version is am-fit-tree-un with accent on the fit. Thus, with a little smother of erudition and a Theatre Guild mask, do the Lunts do some of their rather bawdy capering under the guise of high art. The trick of the Lunts' popularity with the prim and precise, plus of course a certain histrionic talent, is in their solid domesticity. Because they are happily married they can do and say things on the stage that would hoist many lornettes were they not so related. Slight smut passes as amiable fooling.

When I want to impress folk from back yonder with a certain metropolitan dash of heigh-ho I jockey them by the private mansions of John D. Rockefeller and J. P. Morgan. And illustrate how, if one hesitates before such citadels very long, private guards will pop out from nowhere and saunter up, ready to shuck the stranger of a bomb or what-have-you. I profess to know many such tricks, but in reality it is the only one in my repertoire.

Thingumbobs: Sylvia Sidney, once a crack stenographer, in animated cafe conversation often jots down shorthand on menus. Seymour Hicks, London actor, likes steaming black bean soup for breakfast. Grantland Rice thinks up many of those dandy sports poems while indulging a morning shave. The Rob Wagners are off on a tour of the globe.

The conversation was waxing goofier as it went along. Someone told of a fellow he had just seen who had double pneumonia a few months ago and seemed to have grown smaller. Another inquired: "Will pneumonia shrink you?" And Harry Silevy who up to that time had said nothing, chipped in with: "It won't stretch you anyway."

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

MASTOIDITIS

THIS TIME of the year marks an unusual prevalence of infections involving the upper parts of the breathing apparatus. Such troubles are promoted by sudden and unexpected changes in the weather. Whenever there is an increase in the number of colds, sore throats, tonsillitis, influenza, grippé and other infections, there is a corresponding increase in the number of cases of mastoiditis.

Mastoiditis used to be a greatly feared trouble. Because of the great strides in the surgery of this disease, as well as in its early recognition, it is no longer so dreaded.

In spite of the improved prospect, it must be borne in mind that neglect of mastoiditis is serious. In fact, the disease is only dangerous when it is overlooked, neglected or carelessly treated.

Has Air Spaces
As its name indicates, it is an infection or inflammation within the mastoid bone. This is the bone located behind the ear. It is a hard bony prominence or bump which you may feel with your fingers.

The mastoid differs from other bones in that it is honeycombed with numerous air spaces called "mastoid cells." These cells are so arranged that they communicate with one another and ultimately connect with the inner ear.

Since the inner ear connects with the nose and throat, it will be seen how readily infections can travel to the mastoid. For this reason mastoiditis is an occasional complication of colds and other infections of the upper air passages.

Once the germs reach the mastoid cells, they rapidly multiply and form a lot of pus. Impurified within the cells of the hard bone, with little chance for the pus to escape, it does damage. As it accumulates the pressure gives rise to certain symptoms.

Signs of Mastoiditis
The most characteristic sign of mastoiditis is discomfort first and then severe pain behind the ear. Sometimes the pain is not so great and is disregarded. In the beginning it may be mistaken for an ordinary earache. Soon there is swelling, with tenderness back of the ear.

It is frequently observed in adults, but is more common in young children. Anyone susceptible to common colds, tonsillitis, earache or other infections of the head is in danger of the infection spreading to the mastoid. This possibility is particularly the case among undernourished and anemic children and adults.

The question of operation can only be determined after a careful examination. In many instances it can be avoided. The decision as to whether operation is necessary should rest entirely upon the opinion of the attending physician and surgeon.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

OUR READERS

AGAINST WAR

Editor, The News:

As commander of the Allen Reynolds post No. 892, Veterans of Foreign Wars, I wish to bring to the attention of Salem people the campaign of our organization to keep the United States out of war.

The V. F. W. is seeking the names of 25,000,000 American citizens on petitions which will be forwarded to Congress as a part of the drive to keep this nation out of foreign entanglements.

Members of the V. F. W. have fought Uncle Sam's battles, have gone through "hell" once and do not want to do so again. Neither do they wish to have their sons and daughters called upon to settle foreign squabbles.

Let us remain on our own doorstep until the time foreign nations do molest our homes. If such comes to pass, there will be plenty of time to repel their invasion.

The goal of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is to obtain the signatures of 25,000,000 fathers and mothers, calling upon Congress and the President for the adoption of policies designed to keep our country out of war.

As a first step, 500,000 petitions are being mailed to 3,600 V. F. W. posts and 2,000 auxiliary units. The veterans, likewise, will call upon 12,000 newspapers and magazines to publish a proposed ballot as a means of reaching individuals who may not receive the opportunity of signing a petition.

Cooperation of the radio industry will also be asked in placing these petitions in the hands of local civic, religious and patriotic groups. As the petitions are filled out, they will be mailed to headquarters at Kansas City, Mo.

Early next year, the veterans plan to turn the petitions over to Congress on the steps of the Capitol building as a peace mandate from the people of our great republic.

Let us show the rest of the world that we are a peace-loving nation, not cowardly, but ready to fight if worse comes to worse.

Stop for a moment and figure the cost in lives and money in the World War. All for what?

During the World War, more than 2,500 men became millionaires overnight through graft and greed. Yet, if one of our disabled buddies would go to one of these men today and ask for help, would he get it? Draw your own conclusions.

I know what I was told when I came home in 1898 and the same thing applies to our buddies of the World War.

We left untold thousands overseas and thousands came home crippled for life and in broken health. For what? To make the world safe for democracy.

Again today foreign nations are clawing at each other's throats and in the meantime attempting to rope us into the battle too. If they desire to fight, let them do so, but let us remain in our own backyard.

A Muffin a Day Keeps Cathartics Away

If you suffer from common constipation here's good news for you. One good-sized muffin every day, made with Kellogg's All-Brans, will keep you "REGULAR." All-Brans puts two of Nature's own laxatives back in your diet. Instead of over-stimulating your intestines, it gives them things they need. First, "bulk"—All-Brans absorbs water and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination. Second, vitamin "B"—the amazing vitamin that tones up your intestinal tract.

Kellogg's All-Brans is a crunchy, toasted cereal. Eat it with milk or cream and fruits—or in muffins. But however you eat it, use it REGULARLY: eat two table-spoons of All-Brans and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation and cathartics, too! Every grocer sells All-Brans. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

City, commander-in-chief of the V. F. W., in announcing the campaign paid tribute to newspapermen for bringing to light the secret Balfour document, outlining the territorial pledges entered into before America's entrance into the World War. Let us not make another blunder.

Believing that every mother and father desires to protect their sons from becoming "cannon-fodder" for settlement of others troubles, urgently request their signing the V. F. W.'s petition to America out of war. The petitions for the Salem post are expected to arrive soon and will be distributed throughout the city. I ask that you sign.

NAYLOR CALLED IN STATE QUIZ

Friend of Former Parole
Board Head Considered
Key Witness

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Dec. 2.—Asst. Atty. General George Hurley assumed charge today of a special grand jury investigation of alleged irregularities in the Ohio parole system as Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy was called to Bowling Green on business.
Duffy, who directed the probe at the request of Gov. Davey, said that Arch W. Naylor would be recalled before the jury tomorrow.
Naylor, a friend of Leland S. Douglass, former chairman of the state parole board, is considered a key witness in the inquiry to determine whether Ohio convicts bought their freedom. He was granted immunity when he refused to testify without it.
Duffy declined comment on the progress of the investigation yesterday after Naylor had been in the jury room three hours. He said he would not know until Naylor's testimony was completed whether he would proceed with plans for a special grand jury inquiry into the alleged "parole brokers" activities in Stark county.
Naylor was brought here yesterday from Zanesville where he had been held in jail for a week on open charges.
Before leaving for Bowling Green Duffy said that Preston E. Thomas, former Ohio penitentiary warden, would be called before the grand jury. Thomas was removed as warden in January, 1935. Recent reports said he had been seen frequently in the company of Douglass.

Carle takes Jane to his nephew's home, where she seeks to do good by rescuing the wealthy nephew from an entanglement with an attractive but scheming society girl. Her good intentions, serve to cause more trouble, excitement and fun.

G. B. Shaw Advises Windsor To Visit United States Soon

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 2.—George Bernard Shaw today urged the Duke and Duchess of Windsor to visit the United States.

Their indefinitely postponed trip, the veteran dramatist wrote in the Glasgow socialist newspaper Forward, "would have been enormously useful to us both diplomatically and commercially."

Shaw expressed regret that the visit as planned for last month was "mixed up" with Charles E. Bedaux, the industrial engineer whom the Baltimore Federation of Labor called an "arch-enemy" of labor.

The sooner it (the postponed tour) is revived under auspices congenial to American labor the better," Shaw wrote.

The Glasgow newspaper yesterday demanded that the British government bring the abdicated monarch and his American-born duchess back to England before "prince charming has to become a wandering Jew."

BORGWARDT HIT, SISTERS CLAIM

Defense Witnesses Take Stand As State Rests
In Murder Case

Sheriff Harry L. Gosney stoutly defied the accusation.

Tells of Finding Gun
Sheriff Gosney, testifying yesterday afternoon, described the discovery, at Borgwardt's direction, of the gun in Westville lake.

The sheriff recounted how the youth had entered a plea of guilty to a charge of first degree murder when arraigned before Justice M.
K. Zimmerman at Lisbon Aug. 11 for a preliminary hearing.

Ellen Stahl of Sebring, niece of the murdered woman, told the jury she had met Borgwardt twice on the afternoon prior to the shooting.

"It's a good night for a murder," the witness quoted Borgwardt as saying.

"Who are you going to murder—me?" Miss Stahl answered, later adding, "I guess I don't want to be murdered after all."

"Somebody's going to be murdered tonight whether they want to be or not," Miss Stahl said Borg-wardt replied.

"Who do you mean?" the witness asked.

"You'll see when you pick up the paper in the morning," Borgwardt answered.

Thought Borgwardt joking
When Miss Stahl pressed him further Borgwardt said, "My father-in-law," the witness stated. In answer to her observation to the effect that such an act would put him in the electric chair, Borgwardt allegedly answered, "I don't care."

Under cross examination the witness said she thought Borgwardt was joking and made no effort to notify the Cranstons. She added she harbored no unfriendly feelings for the prisoner.

Nearly all witnesses were asked by the defense if they observed anything peculiar about the defendant.
All of them replied in the negative.

north and west of Hankow, or on their way from Russia.

The Manila Tribune said five of six heavy bombing planes unloaded there recently and consigned to H.
H. Kung, Chinese finance minister, were on their way to Hangkong aboard the British freighter Ben-madhu.

(Kung's name, the newspaper said, was removed and the shipment readdressed to a British concern at Hangkong. The planes were said to have been purchased by China in the United States).

On the Yangtze delta battleground Japanese fought their way toward objectives where groups of American residents were believed to be in danger.

Drive on Nanking, Wuhu
Heavy Japanese bombers showered projectiles ahead of infantry units driving toward Nanking and Wuhu, Yangtze river port 60 miles southwest of the almost-deserted Chinese capital.

Another Japanese column was aimed at Hang-chow, Chekiang province seaport to the south.

Dr. R. E. Brown, of Ann Arbor, Mich., forwarded to Japanese authorities the appeal of 24 Americans and several other foreigners that a neutral zone be established at Wuhu. There was no answer.

The United States consulate and mission authorities expressed fears for the safety of 13 Americans, mostly women and children, marooned at Mokanshan or nearby.

Mokanshan, near the Chekiang-Anhui provincial border, is an isolated region in the heart of the Chinese-Japanese battleground.

"HATCHET MEN" SET FOR ACTION

Whet Their Weapons For Attack On Davey Budget

"sit-down" was considered a blow to Davey's request for speedy action on the unemployment insurance proposal.

Whetro said that before permitting any action by the house, he would ask Atty Gen. Herbert S. Duffy to obtain a ruling from the U. S. attorney general on the question of whether the federal law required state laws to be in operation for two years prior to payment of benefits.

Two Years' Collection

The Ohio law will have been in effect only a few days more than a year on next Jan. 1, but the governor contends that the federal law refers only to a two-year period for collections. The Ohio law was passed near the end of 1936 but payrolls for the entire year were taxed, thus providing for two full years collection by next January.

Another note of discord came from House Republican Leader William M. McCulloch of Miami county who protested against Davey's action in opening the special session to other than "purely emergency" matters. The constitution did not contemplate legislative action on ordinary matters at a special session, he said.

Nonetheless the legislature completed passage of a bill to appropriate student fees for this year to Kent State university, an appropriation inadvertently omitted from the regular budget at the last session.

The senate decided to quit work to await house action on a relief program, holding only skeleton sessions in the meantime, and the house scheduled its next regular session for 1:30 p. m. Monday, deciding on a skeleton meeting at 10 a. m. Saturday.

AWAITS MARCH TO DEATH CHAIR

Anna Marie Hahn, Taken To Penitentiary, Remains Confident

Winnington she crumpled forward in "pretty much of a faint." Coffee, obtained at a roadside diner, revived her, he related.

Regains Composure

Quickly regaining her composure, Mrs. Hahn looked again at the departing custodians.

"I feel all right; guess I'll be all right," she muttered.

The three flights of steps she climbed to her curtained, rug-spread cell did not seem to tire her, reported Dr. E. D. Clarke, a Negro prison physician who visited her quarters.

Behind her in Cincinnati, Mrs. Hahn left Oscar, her 12-year-old son, with a poignant goodbye kiss wet on his lips. Her husband, Philip Hahn, a telegrapher, was absent. Oscar, about whom Mrs. Hahn talked constantly during the 107-mile ride, will visit her here, coming with Hiram Bolsinger, her attorney.

Bolsinger has said he would appeal to the "highest court." He lost an attempt to keep her in Cincinnati pending appeals, the district appeals court having overruled him yesterday.

Mrs. Hahn, first woman held behind the penitentiary's gray walls in 25 years, was rushed into seclusion by prison authorities.

Passes Death House

Her lips twisting in a faint smile as she stepped briskly from an automobile, she was hustled through three barred gates and across the yard to the hospital building. Only a short distance from her path squatted the red brick building that houses the electric chair.

If she is executed, Mrs. Hahn will be the first woman ever electrocuted in Ohio.

She entered the penitentiary just four months after the death in Colorado Springs, Colo., of George Obendorfer, 67-year-old Cincinnati cobbler who had accompanied her and her son on a trip west.

It was the investigation of this death which led to uncovering what Prosecutor Dudley M. Outcall of Hamilton county described as "the biggest mass murder in the country."

He introduced at her trial testimony concerning the deaths of four old men, charging she poisoned them to gain their tiny fortunes.

Lowellville Boy Taken For "Ride"

TOLEDO, Dec. 2. — Edward Leo McGarry, 11, of Lowellville, today anxiously awaited his parents to take him home after his involuntary 175-mile freight car ride across Ohio.

The child, out of curiosity, crawled into an open box car on a siding near his home Sunday and became imprisoned when the door was snapped shut by the sudden starting of the train.

He was found asleep in the freight car here yesterday.

The youngster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGarry, were expected to arrive today to take him home.

Speaks At Lisbon

LISBON, Dec. 2. — Albert I. McClain, East Liverpool business man and Legionnaire, addressed members of the Lisbon Kiwanis club at their noon meeting today.

Mr. McClain spoke on "The Third A. E. F.," describing his travels as a delegate to a world peace conference in which he took part as a Legion delegate.

towards him as he attempted to cross the street, became confused and then ran in front of the vehicle.

Other Victims Better

The Central Clinic today reported the condition of James Smith, 77, of Kensington, slightly better. Smith was hurt critically when run down by an automobile on the Salineville-Kensington road Friday.

Slight improvement was seen at Clinic also in the condition of Alex Sobolewski, 8, Columbia Street school pupil, injured when he ran in front of a truck on S. Ellsworth ave., Tuesday afternoon.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pints of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.
